Hospital fire control system does not work

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

Hancock General Hospital's central air control duct fire damper system has, apparently never operated properly.

The damper system was intended to prevent smoke from traveling through air ducts throughout the hospital during a fire.

Operational dampers are required in the hospital by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare and the Joint Hospital Accreditation Commission.

The hospital is currently attempting to meet commission accreditation standards.

Phillip Langston, hospital administrator, Tuesday night informed HGH's Board of Trustees that two of three dampers do not work.

"We've got fire dampers which should close when an alarm goes off. These are located above the fire doors in the hospital," Langston explained.

Joe Sturgis, hospital maintenance engineer, told the trustees, "In 1977, on a joint commission recommendation, we contacted Architect Fred Wagner and let a contract for smoke dampers."

"But the smoke dampers don't work properly. Two out of three don't work," he added.

Sturgis explained the dampers are a guillotine design which "aren't being sold now."

"I've never seen the original contract which involved the board, architect and administrator," he noted.

Rev. Charles Johnson, board president, stated, "The fact is we accepted something that doesn't work." Sturgis also informed the board that the air conditioning units do not automatically shut off as they should when the fire alarm is activated.

"The air handling system—I can take care of that, but so far as the dampers are concerned, I can't repair them," he noted.

Sturgis explained the three dampers each operate with a cable system connected to individual motors.

Constant torque is maintained on the motors by the weight of the damper doors. When a fire alarm sounds the cables are released and gravity closes the dampers.

However, Sturgis also explained the Wind-whipped fires devastate Hancock

By BRENT MACEY

"From what I can see now I can count, one, two three... seven, eight, nine fires burning throughout Hancock County," dispatcher Wanda Stenklyft said from her perch at the Rocky Hill Fire Tower during a blazing series of brush fires which swept through Hancock County Wednesday.

Stenklyft, a dispatcher for the Mississippi State Forestry Commission said, "This is the worst fire situation I have ever seen and I've worked here for five years."

"I can see some that have already burned over a hundred acres and there's no more manpower to deal with them," she said between interruptions from numerous fire departments and units calling for assistance from almost every corner of the county.

"Each request for assistance received the same reply, 'Right now I have no more units I can send.'"

At approximately 4 p.m. Wednesday Stenklyft said, "Right now we have everybody trying to contain the fires that are threatening homes," Stenklyft said.

She said the worst fires were located in the Kiln and Fenton areas. This reporter watched cars proceeding along Hwy. 603 disappear in a cloud of black and gray smoke which rolled across the roadway just above Bayou LaCroix.

Telephone poles, pine trees and swamp grass threw blazes of fire 15 to 20 feet high.

Fire engines with red lights flashing and sirens roaring raced back down the highway to stations to refilling with water.

In Shoreline Park acres had been burned and citizens worked to lead the fire department trucks and equipment through the maze of roads to spots where individual houses were threatened.

The sky was dark grey from smoke and it was impossible to detect exactly where any one blaze originated from.

Once a house was safe, the fire units sped to another area.

Bob Utterback, limping from a twisted ankle sustained in a day of firefighting, pointed in the direction of two more fires sweeping down Bayou LaCroix which had already jumped from the bank and was burning an island near Shoreline Park.

But the fire units had already left to fight another blaze.

The closest fire units were now across the bayou, at the home of Elizabeth New.

As the fire blazed on three sides of her house Mrs. New stood with a shovel in her hand. Fire fighters from the Waveland Fire Department stood pumping water along the rim of the fire which at times threatened the all-wood structure from 10 to 15 feet away.

"I just lost my husband one month ago," Mrs. New said. "I don't know what I'll do if I lose my house. It's all I have."

Other individuals throughout the county called fire departments, many like Mrs. New were distraught, and some were hysterical as the fires crept closer and closer to their homes.

At approximately 4:30 p.m. Mississippi Power Company cut power feeding lines along Hwy. 603 where utility poles were burning.

An alternate power source was pressed into service to feed the Kiln area.

"We had to switch the power supply,"

Perry Gibson from Mississippi Power said. "The poles along Hwy. 603 were on fire."

Stenklyft said major fires started in Kiln just south of the Majic Mart on the west side of the road.

"At 1 p.m. there was a 22 mile-per-hour wind."

"That fire burned all the way up to Cuevas Junction and jumped Hwy. 603.

At Borg-Warner site

Federal official ok's union vote

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

A National Labor Relations Board official has decided to allow pipe department employees at Borg-Warner Chemical's Port Bienville plant construction site to vote yes or no regarding union representation.

The secret ballot election will be conducted by NLRB Thursday, March 26 at the job site.

Some 50 Universal Maintenance Corp., Inc. employees out of an estimated work force of 150 will be eligible to participate in the election.

UMC is prime contractor for construction of the Borg-Warner plant here.

UMC presently is an open shop, non-union, contractor.

Joseph Norton, acting NLRB regional director in New Orleans, Tuesday said, "A Feb. 26 decision regarding an election by NLRB Regional Director Fred Lewis provides for all UMC pipe department employees at the Borg-Warner construction site are entitled to vote on union representation."

"The election includes pipefitters, pipewelders and helpers in the pipe department and excludes all other employees, guards, and supervisors as defined in the National Labor Relations Act," Norton explained.

The acting director said Gulfport Pipefitters Local 568 of United Association of Journeymen and Apprentices of the Plumbing and Pipefitting Industry of the United States and Canada (AFL-CIO) requested the election.

"Purpose of the election is to allow eligible employees to determine by vote whether or not they wish to be represented by the union," Norton stated.

Previously the NLRB conducted a hearing in Gulfport on Feb. 9 to discuss a petition filed by Pipefitter's Local 568 on Jan. 22 requesting union representation.

On March 2 at about 3 p.m. UMC officials posted notice at the construction site of the decision allowing the pipe department election.

The company notice states, "UMC,

Supervisors request oil companies share cost of road paving

By BRENT MACEY

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors has informed four oil and gas companies enforced load limits on an improved Texas Flat Road would prevent their continued use of the artery.

The board has suggested the companies shoulder a portion of the cost of an upgraded paving of the road in order to insure continued use by their heavy trucks.

Board attorney Walter Gex Monday said the oil company share of improving Texas Flat to state primary road status is approximately $200,000.

The oil companies are currently using Texas Flat road as an access road for heavy trucks to reach a gas refinery plant in the area.

Currently that road is a gravel road. The board during a meeting Feb. 17 authorized Michael Smith of Advanced

Other city employees involved in the project were Enck Bell and Alfred Sells. Feigel said merchants and residents

He noted some 150 pounds of chlorine was added to that area of the water system to purify the new pipe. cables become tangled in the motor pulley systems.

The motors raise the doors. "The dampers are poorly designed and should have never been accepted," he stated.

Trustee Harry Baxter noted, "But prior to the smoke doors there was nothing."

The maintenance engineer also noted, "There is also a link in each cable which breaks when heat reaches at 160 degrees Fahrenheit, allowing the dampers to close."

Trustee Perry Gibson said, "It seems to be a real simple principal for something not to work."

Sturgis reported the damper motors are not accessible for maintenance and added the contractor installing the dampers had to chisel through plaster fire walls to install the devices.

Trustee Brother Martin Hernandez stated, "It sounds like a Rube Goldberg job."

Sturgis reported the now defunct Plaquemine Construction Co. was contractor for the damper installation. Johnson asked Sturgis, "Has Wagner been called in on this?"

Sturgis replied, "Once he called Mr. Pitcairn, but he was tied up and didn't have time to look at it."

"Leo Cook with Mandel, Inc. of Gulfport installed the dampers," he added.

Baxter asked, "Is the joint commission going to accept this?"

Langston replied, "I understood they would not."

Sturgis said, "HEW wrote us up on this also."

Langston added, "We'll have more trouble with the State Licensing Bureau than with the joint commission."

The maintenance engineer stated, "We have one out of three dampers which will close. My recommendation is we should replace all three."

Trustee David Peranich asked, "Have all three ever worked?"

A dead silence filled the room.

Sturgis reported, "Sharp Electric,

Inc. of Gulfport failed to put in the proper wiring and relay system to turn off the air handling units."

The maintenance engineer added that original plans calling for the wiring system might have been changed.

"We should install a system to shut down the dampers and the air handling unit when a fire alarm goes off," Sturgis recommended.

"We can take care of the air handling end of the job with about $1,500 for wiring," he added.

Johnson stated, "I recommend Sturgis contact Wagner and get something accomplished."

Sturgis reported, "When I came up with the air handling problem several years ago I talked to Wagner. Sharp Electric said it wasn't in their contract."

"Wagner said he met with the administrator about it," the maintenance engineer said.

Robert Genin, board attorney, suggested, "I'd like to see Peranich look at this to see what can be done."

Sturgis again explained how the guillotine damper system should work. Genin asked, "Can't the dampers be manually operated?"

Langston replied, "The entire system has to be automatic to meet all requirements."

Sturgis reiterated, "The doors don't close and the air handling unit doesn't shut down."

"When they installed the dampers, holes had to be broken through walls from adjoining rooms," he reported.

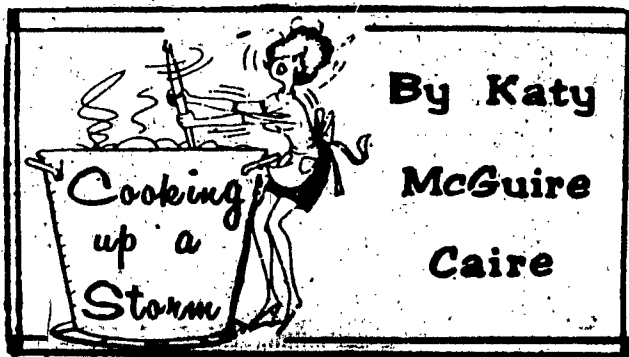

The maintenance engineer explained the walls were replastered after the damper installation was completed.

Peranich said, "Didn't Fred Wagner have to examine the dampers? They should have worked then."

Sturgis stated, "It's a bad situation really because it's a poor design."

"I think the plasterers might have had something to do with this problem," he speculated.

Baxter noted, "But we still have an air handling problem."

Sure and everyone's Irish on St. Patrick's Day — and whether you "go for" the American-style menu of corned beef and cabbage to celebrate the day, or the "Auld Sod" Irish menu of salmon, smoked or otherwise, All Hail, St. Pat!

The salmon has oft been called the national dish of Old Ireland, its prominence stemming from Erin's earliest days, prized as a great delicacy, and the glorious star at the banquets of the Kings of Old Ireland — often roasted on a spit, well rubbed with salt and honey, or slow-boiled in one of those huge pots of the Irish countryside.

Since we're not likely to come upon a whole salmon just at this moment, we'll have to settle for salmon croquettes or soufflé or such, or if we're very lucky, a tin of smoked salmon slices to serve with dark bread, in the style of old Ireland.

And if you opt for the more Americanized fare on St. Pat's Day — savor the corned beef and cabbage tradition the early Irish immigrants to America established, when they bit these shores, fleeing the potato famine in the home country.

It was easy, good and inexpensive, and, of course, these new Americans added Irish potatoes, which they found in abundance in America, to the corned beef and cabbage.

But, whether you hold to old Erin's salmon, or to the corned beef and cabbage of Irish-Americans for the sake of St. Pat, do end the festivities with Irish Coffee, the Irishman's preview of Heavenly Manna.

IRISH COFFEE

For each serving, put a teaspoon or a dribble more of sugar into your stemmed goblet, or a cup, and add enough extra-strong hot black coffee to dissolve the sugar, and stir very, very well.

Add a generous jigger of whiskey (Irish whiskey's best for this, but you can use Bourbon) and fill the glass or cup to within an inch of the brim with more coffee.

Float a generous tablespoon of whipped cream atop — but don't, please don't mix the cream through the coffee, just sip the wonderfully whiskey-laced coffee through the cloud of cream.

Local legal secretaries award three scholarships

The Harrison and Hancock Counties Legal Secretaries Association recently awarded three scholarships to local high school seniors.

A $500 first place award winner is Charlene Clark, a senior at Bay St. Louis High School.

She is an honor student, president of her senior class, student council secretary, co-editor of the yearbook and member of the National Honor Society.

Clark was voted "most dependable" and "accomplished the most for Bay High" by her classmates.

She also is very active in her church and community, and works at A&P Food Store.

Clark plans to attend Pearl River Junior College in Poplarville and then the University of Southern Mississippi in Hattiesburg majoring in computer systems analysis.

A $200 second place award winner is Janet Swanier of Pass Christian High School. Also an honor student, Swanier has received many academic awards including typing, French, English, and shorthand.

She has been honored by the Pass Christian Chamber of Commerce as student of the month and her classmates as "most studious."

Swanier plans to study secretarial sciences at Mississippi Gulf Coast Junior College's Jefferson Davis Campus in Gulfport.

She is already assisting in her own support by working part-time at Hancock Bank in Pass Christian.

A $100 third place award winner is Lynn Miller of Long Beach High School.

An honor student since junior high, she is president of Concert Choir and has received awards in Spanish, English, and marketing as well as recently being named a finalist in accounting in the Future Business Leaders of America district competition. Miller's Who's Who honors include "most talented" and "most beautiful" and she works part-time at a Gulfport sporting goods store.

"Judges for this year's contest were Thomas L. Stennis II, senior partner in the law firm of Bryant and Stennis; Henry J.D'Aquila, director of the Gulf Coast Conference Facility at USM's Gulf Coast Regional Campus; and Glenn W. Mitchell, mayor of Long Beach," a group spokesman notes.

PROBATION OFFICIAL SPEAKS

The association conducted its regular monthly meeting on March 12, at the Best Western Inn in Gulfport with President Ilyne Stewart presiding.

Guest speaker for the meeting was Chief Gerald W. Jerry Brown of the U.S. Probation Office.

"He explained the role the office plays in the federal court system and discussed the present investigation process and the federal correctional process," the group spokesman says.

"Other special guests at the meeting were scholarship winners Clark, Swanier, and Miller," the spokesman reports.

"Donna Cave, legal education chairman, presented a quiz on the use of hyphens," the spokesman notes.

"Denise Faucett, ways and means chairman, reported an arts and crafts show will be conducted March 28 at First United Methodist Church in Gulfport. The public is invited to attend," the spokesman concluded.

Child hyperactivity discussed at meeting

Monday at Scafield's Wheel Inn Restaurant on US-90 at 6:30 p.m., the Mississippi Association of Children with Learning Disabilities, Hancock County Chapter, presented Dr. Catherine Lundy, director of the Gulf Coast Mental Health Center office in Hancock County and counselor of mental health programs in the Hancock County School District.

"Lundy discussed hyperactivity in children," reports Chapter President Marion Dailey.

"Some parents don't know or understand early warning signs a child could be showing and will not learn of these signs until a child reaches school," Dailey says.

"These signs do not always mean that a child is destined to have problems, but the earlier a child's special problems are recognized and help is sought the greater the possibility that a child can succeed in school," Dailey notes.

'Spring Swing' set Saturday in Biloxi

The Swing Club will conduct its annual Spring Swing Saturday in the Versailles Room of The Royal D'Iberville Hotel in Biloxi starting at 9 p.m.

"The dance is open to the public and everyone is invited to get into the swing of things," a group spokesman adds.

"An 18 piece orchestra 'The Stardusters' will be playing swing in the style of the big bands of the 30's and 40's."

"This type of music is now in resurgence across the country as shown in 'The Big Band Magazine' an international publication, which lists hundreds of big bands," the spokesman says.

"Ballrooms in many of the larger cities are being reopened and many discos are being converted to the big band type of programming. Also the conservative trend and the new look in Washington are aiding in this resurgence," the spokesman explains.

"Our local Swing Club has members from the Gulf Coast but also from Louisiana, Florida and Michigan," the spokesman notes.

If you don't belong, but do enjoy good music and true ballroom dancing get a group together and come to the Spring Swing. You will really enjoy the music dancing and the sophisticated atmosphere," the spokesman adds.

Lakeside festival set west of Hattiesburg

A first annual Lake Serene Dogwood Festival will be Saturday, April 11, from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., at Lake Serene, located seven miles west of Hattiesburg.

"There will be a tour of four Lake Serene area homes as well as a fashion show, featuring historical costumes of yesterday and also fashions of today," Publicity Chairman Judy Williams says.

"The festival will feature an arts and crafts show, live bluegrass music, tumbling acts and a fun run," she notes.

"The center for all planned activities will be the Lake Serene Pavilion located in the Recreation Area," Williams reports.

"Tickets for the tour of homes and fashion show may be purchased at the pavilion on the day of the festival for $3," she states.

"All other activities are free," Williams adds.

Anyone wishing to exhibit at the arts and crafts show should contact Susan Patterson at 264-4582 before March 20.

Family counseling meeting is tonight

"Families in Touch" will meet Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the Gulfport Judicial Courthouse Conference Room's west entrance.

"Dr. Patsy Zakaras, Clinical Psychologist with the Mental Health Center, will outline services that are available at the center," an association spokesman says. "Families in Touch," sponsored by the Mental Health Association in Harrison County, is free and open to the public.

"A self-help support and educational program for families of persons with mental and emotional problems, 'Families in Touch' has a three fold purpose which is to:

—Make available information and education about mental illness;

—Provide a resource group of professionals—psychiatrists, psychologists, bankers, clergy, lawyers, and social workers—as well as non-professionals whose expertise would benefit the group;

—Offer a social outlet for people who feel cut off from the mainstream of social activity due to their emotional and physical commitment to the mentally ill or brain damaged person.

Forum to explore troubled youths

An interdisciplinary forum for reaching the troubled youth will be offered on weekends beginning March 20 at the University of Southern Mississippi's Gulf Park campus in Long Beach.

"The forum is an effort to bring together people from different areas serving troubled youth to provide information and share ideas and experiences," a university spokesman says.

"The program includes such topics as juvenile justice, family counseling, community resources and education. The workshop will meet Fridays and Saturdays March 20-21, 27-28, April 3-4 and 10-11," the spokesman reported.

"Sessions will meet from 6:15-9:30 p.m. Fridays and from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturdays. Registration will be at 5:30 p.m. March 20 in Hardy Hall at USM-Gulf Park," the spokesman explains.

Directors of the forum are Dr. Johnny Purvis of the Department of Curriculum and Instruction; Mary Ann Carmichael of USM's Reading Center and Ann Marshall of the Tutorial Intervention Program at USM.

March of Dimes march set Sunday

The March of Dimes Mothers March Against Birth Defects will be Sunday, March 22.

Penny Alexander, chairman of the Mississippi Gulf Coast Chapter recently announced the appointment of Delores Davis and Ruby Life, both of Waveland, as co-chairmen of this year's 'Mothers March.'

"We would like to reach every home in Hancock County this year," says Alexander.

"It will take many helping hands to accomplish this. Prevention of birth defects is a giant task and we are asking all interested volunteers to call Davis at 467-4565 or Life at 467-8503 and join us," Alexander reports.

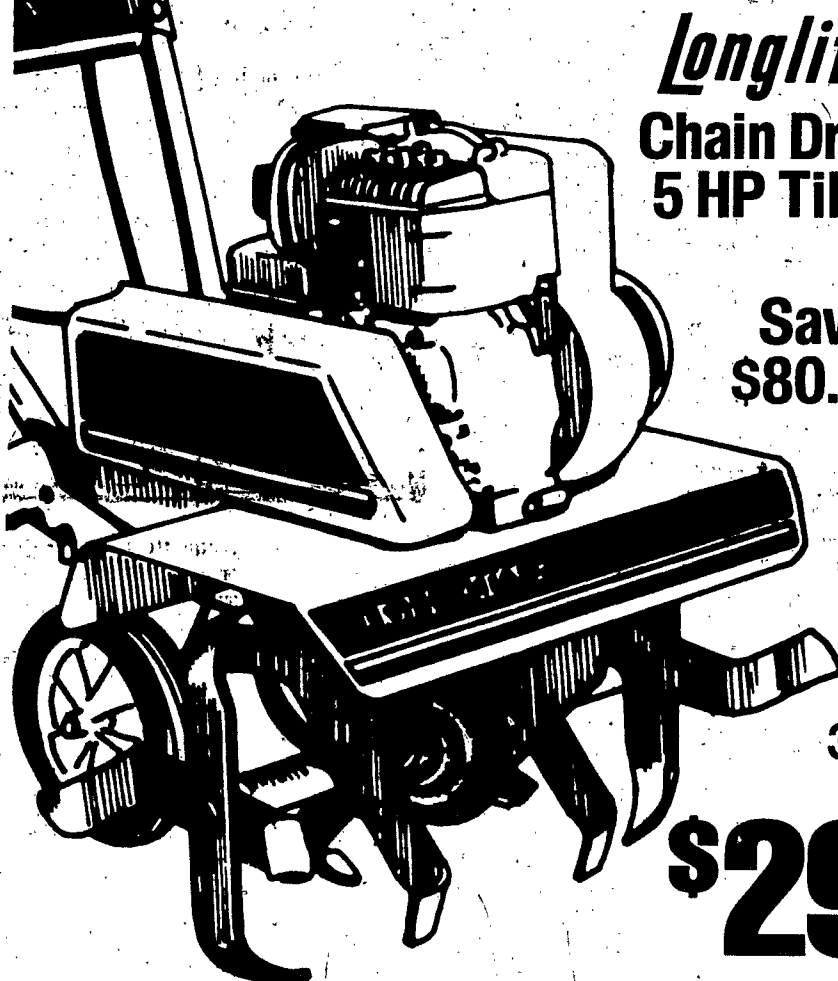

"More than 3,500 babies are born in Mississippi each year with either physical or mental defects. More babies die in Mississippi in their first year of life than any other state in the nation," the chapter chairman says.

"Funds raised by the Mothers March are used to help support two university medical center programs which deal directly with these problems — The Perinatal Hotline which is available to all physicians who require consultation and advice, and The Newborn Transport System which furnishes immediate transportation to the Newborn Center for sick newborns," Alexander explains.

"Locally, limited direct patient aid is available. Public health information is provided to high school students, public health departments, pre-natal care centers and all others who request it," she adds.

The qualified electors of Bay St. Louis will go to the polls on May 12 to re-elect or elect a mayor and five councilmen for the next four years.

In order for a resident to be able to vote they must be registered at both the County Courthouse as well as the Bay City Hall.

Bay City Clerk Eddie Favre has extended hours for persons to register if they have not done so. If you question as to whether you are registered or not, give the city clerk's office a call, it will only take a few minutes.

It is important for all to vote in all elections.

The putter of roto-tillers can be heard all over town. Garden time seems to be only days away.

We know some have already planted and are hoping no more frost will show.

It seems to have been one of the best springs for getting ground ready for planting, and we will have to sit out this growing season because we are unable to handle the tiller ourselves due to surgery.

Tomato plants have been moving rapidly at local outlets, as well as eggplant and sweet pepper plants.

Won't be long until we all will have to hear the purr of the power mowers with the grass and weeds starting to do their thing.

With all types of insurance rates increasing, it must be good news for Kiln residents receiving a better fire insurance rating.

The more favorable fire insurance rating is all due to the Kiln Water and Fire Protection District being in operation.

A lot of long years of hard work went into the Kiln Water and Fire Protection District by many dedicated residents. They should all be commended on a job well done.

At the turn of the century, Kiln was the leading community in Hancock County. Other communities better keep a close eye on them, because they are on the move again.

Cancer Society eyes smoking doctors

An American Cancer Society survey of 494 physicians has shown that 87 percent of them don't smoke, but that the 13 percent who do are almost as likely as the nonsmokers to advise their patients to give up cigarettes.

Reported upon in the March-April issue of "Ca", an American Cancer Society journal for clinicians, the survey showed, however, that some of the smoking doctors feel uncomfortable when doling out advice to quit.

Conducted for the Society by Lieberman Research, Inc., of New York City, the survey revealed that nonsmoking physicians speak to 66 percent of their smoking patients about "kicking the habit," whereas doctors who smoke talk about quitting with about 55 percent of their patients who smoke.

Only 33 percent of smoking physicians, compared to 85 percent of nonsmoking physicians, report being "extremely" or "very" comfortable in this role, and only 33 percent of the smokers, as compared to 63 percent of the nonsmokers, say they speak "extremely" or "very" forcefully on the subject of quitting.

The survey's main purpose was to evaluate the effectiveness of educational materials supplied to physicians for use by their patients.

The differences between smoking and nonsmoking doctors showed up incidentally in demographics of this study.

State medical group urges bicycle safety

(Presented as a public service by the Mississippi State Medical Association and this newspaper.)

Three out of four bicycle accidents are caused by carelessness of the rider, and half of all bicycle accidents occur between the ages of five and 14 years, statistics show.

The Mississippi State Medical Association points out that although the increase in the use of bicycles by adults has increased the number of bicycle-related deaths and injuries in older persons, bicycle-related accidents are predominantly a childhood problem. Efforts to train children in safe bicycle riding should be encouraged.

Bicycles are more than "toys" — they are "first vehicles." The following guidelines are offered in recognition of the importance of bicycle safety:

—Children through early elementary school age should never be allowed to ride at night, and bicycles for older children must have the recommended lighting and reflectors. The use of flags should be encouraged for daytime riding.

—Parents should supervise the selection of a bicycle, being sure the bike is suited to the child's size and abilities.

—Parents should inspect the bicycle and see that it is in good working order until the child reaches early adolescence and has developed enough sense of responsibility to do this himself.

—The bicycle is both a recreational and a transportation vehicle. Riders must follow the rules prescribed for all motor vehicles.

—Skills which must be taught to children five years old and older include safe starting, the ability to ride in a straight line near the curb, rules about right of way, turning corners, and rapid stopping.

—No child should be permitted to ride on roadways until he has mastered all aspects of the bicycle and this mastery has been observed by a parent on the roadway the child will travel.

—Parents should encourage the use of the best pre-determined bike routes as a major step in removing children from hazards.

—Parents need to stimulate and support community wide programs and activities designed to promote safe use of bicycles and development of safe bike paths.

Senator Thad Cochran

SPECIAL REPORT:

President's Challenge

Senator Thad Cochran has announced the nationwide observance of "Agriculture Day" is scheduled for Thursday, March 19.

Using the theme "Agriculture: It's Your Heartbeat America!", volunteers from all parts of the country will join in a coordinated effort to tell "what agriculture means to America."

"Agriculture is the heartbeat of our nation's economy," Senator Cochran noted as he pointed to the following facts:

—Nation's No. 1 industry — assets of $927 billion.

—Nation's No. 1 employer — over 15 million people.

—Nation's No. 1 inflation fighter — with productivity growth five times that of non-farm business over the past five years.

—Nation's No. 1 exporter — $40 billion in 1980.

"It's essential that the American people realize that a strong agriculture means a stronger America. Agriculture is our nation's basic vitality — the strength of the world's best fed nation — and this observance gives all Americans an opportunity to salute the industry that means so much to our country's past, present and future," the Senator stated.

Cochran pointed out that the efficiency of U.S. agriculture helps make it possible for us to spend less of our after-tax income on food, and to earn food items in less time than consumers in other nations around the world.

For the first time since its start in 1973, Agriculture Day is being celebrated as an official national observance. Grassroots activities for March 19 are spearheaded through the State Departments of Agriculture and supported by a broad range of companies, organizations and individuals throughout the United States.

Senator Thad Cochran (R-Miss.) is sponsoring legislation to give Mississippi a "very strong role" in protecting against indiscriminate selection for nuclear waste disposal.

Senator Cochran also questioned Energy Secretary James B. Edwards very closely about site selection when Edwards appeared before the Senate energy and water development appropriations subcommittee.

"I don't believe high-level nuclear waste should be disposed of in populated areas, and I reminded the Secretary that Mississippi is an inhabited area," the Senator commented.

"I have heard from hundreds of my constituents in South Mississippi who are extremely concerned the federal government is going to unilaterally force this nuclear waste on them. Unless we give them a real chance to let their views be known, we will create more problems than we will solve."

ILLEGAL DUMPING—A landfill area on Webb Street in Bay St. Louis was closed by the city council more than a year ago, Mayor Larry Bennett said Tuesday. However, an inspection of the area this week revealed that dumping is still underway and two roads serve as easy access to this dumping ground. Nearby residents are experiencing an increasing rat problem not to mention the unsightly piles of building materials, furniture, chucks of pavement, appliances, books and pamphlets. Bennett added he did not realize dumping was still occurring in this area and pledged to increase police patrols to stop this illegal activity. Hopefully, this neighborhood pollution problem will be stopped before a disease carrying rat infects a citizen in the vicinity.

Authority representative resigns

March 9, 1981

The Mayor & City Council
The City of Bay Saint Louis Bay Saint Louis, Miss.

Gentlemen:

It is my intention to submit to Governor Winter the attached letter of resignation from my post as the Bay St. Louis representative on the Board of Commissioners of the Gulf Coast Regional Wastewater Authority. I request that you advise of your concurrence in this matter immediately.

Yours very truly,
William P. Hilliker

The Honorable William F. Winter
Governor
State of Mississippi
Jackson, Mississippi

Dear Governor Winter:

Because of the action taken by the Mayor and City Council of the City of Bay St. Louis on January 23 and March 5 deciding not to join the Gulf Coast Regional Wastewater Authority, I have no alternative but to tender my resignation as the Bay St. Louis representative on the Authority's Board of Commissioners.

I do this with deep regret because I am completely convinced that the Authority plan for treating Bay St. Louis wastewater eventually will be found to be the cheapest and most efficient for the City to comply with EPA and the Mississippi Pollution Control Board standards by the crucial date of 1983.

It has been an unique and fulfilling experience to have worked with the Authority. I can only hope that I have served the people of Bay St. Louis in an adequate manner. For the reasons given, I request you accept my resignation effective immediately.

Yours very truly,
William P. Hilliker

Barcelona joins Green, Perniciaro in criticism of child support law

To The Editor
Sea Coast Echo
Bay St. Louis

Dear Sir:

Hats off again to David Green and Teresa Perniciaro for speaking up about our child support laws.

It has been four years since my daughter was taken to another state to live.

After 21 trips, and thousands of dollars spent, I also sympathize with their views.

I have yet to spend one weekend or even one night with my daughter.

The state in which my child was living and born is completely helpless.

Myself and my family have been treated like common criminals, when we have tried to visit my daughter.

If and when I do get enough money to visit my daughter, I also will be facing the same thing Mr. Green faced, but the only difference is, I will be 1,300 miles from home.

In our society, young children are growing and learning, and who do they learn from?

How do you teach a child honesty, and respect for his or her heritage, when there are such injustices as those taking place in this country today?

Yet the criminal has more rights than somebody who cannot make the child support payment.

What will happen if this child becomes sick and you have no more money?

Do the courts think about this?

I hope and pray there will be justice in this country someday.

'Happily divorced' mother argues need for stringent child support laws

March 18, 1981
Sea Coast Echo

To The Editor:

Tell the public to put their hats back on in regards to David Green's opinion.

Speaking as a happily divorced woman with a beautiful daughter to raise as a single parent, the child's existence derived from two individuals, (not one person could have reproduced without the other).

Placing the parents' disagreements and priorities aside, both parents are responsible for the upbringing of the child.

The responsibility should not be placed in the wallet of another man or woman.

The child has a right to visit and love both parents. The father should want to pay part of the child's necessities and luxuries in life.

If he doesn't want to pay, he is showing proof of being a poor parent.

Depending on what the divorce decree states, when the father doesn't pay he deserves some type of prosecution.

The child deserves to have his or her child support before the father and his new family obtain their luxuries in life.

A new car and dining room set are not necessities in life!

Women, divorced as myself and placing our bitter feelings aside, let's congratulate all of the men who pay their child support on time, not because of their fear of being prosecuted, but because they care about their children.

Fires.....CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1A

From what I have heard I believe that it has also jumped Joe Moran Road," she stated.

"I'd say arsonists started many of these fires today," she feels.

Stenklyft said Forestry Commission firefighting crews were dispatched from Pearl River and Stone counties, with more assistance expected from out of the county later Wednesday.

Other units fighting woods and brush fires Wednesday in different locations included the Bay St. Louis, Kiln, Waveland, Diamondhead Fire Departments, all volunteer fire departments and eight units from the Mississippi State Forestry Commission.

"We have eight units from this division. That includes anybody with a tractor and transport vehicle," the fire tower dispatcher said.

At approximately 4:30 p.m. Chief Andrew Lizana of the Bay St. Louis Fire Department said trucks were back in the station refilling and waiting on calls from different areas.

"We have been fighting fires in three areas," Lizana said.

One of the areas the department was called to was on Hwy. 603 and another on Stewart Drive, he said.

"We were interrupted by a structure fire on Webb Street earlier this afternoon the chief said.

"That is now under control," he added.

Stenklyft said a fire had burned two miles straight through the Fenton area and was approaching Harrison County at approximately 4 p.m. Wednesday.

"We have only been able to have one unit at that fire," she said.

Other areas reporting blazes included areas along North Beach Boulevard and Blue Meadow Road.

Reports from the Silver Creek area indicated fires had jumped Joe Moran Road and where heading for the area.

Fires were also reported west of the Lizana Community just off Cable Bridge Road.

Clermont Boulevard reported a fire near the harbor at 6 p.m.

Jimmy Varnell from the Waveland Fire Department said around 3:30 p.m. in the midst of battling a fire, "These fires have just begun. We'll be fighting fires for the rest of the night."

Inc. is delighted that the board has included the welders, pipefitters and helpers in the unit since they work closely together."

"Regardless of whether you signed a card for the union, you can vote in secret as you now feel. Think for yourself — VOTE 'NO,'" the notice concludes.

On March 11 UMC posted a notice written in Spanish and English listing the following questions and answers:

FOR YOUR INFORMATION

Q. What about any threats you receive if you don't vote for the union?

A. It is against the law for anyone to threaten you to vote for the union. If you are threatened, whoever does it must not believe the union can win in a fair election.

You have a right to vote for or against the union. The vote will be by secret ballot, and will be conducted by the Federal Government to insure a fair election. No one will know how you vote.

Q. What about the union promise not to charge you dues until you have a union contract?

A. Until you are a member of the union, it has no right to your dues anyway. Besides, a few months of not paying dues is nothing compared to a lifetime of paying them. Dues are money out of your pocket — and are very big business to the Union.

Q. Can the union guarantee higher wages and working conditions?

A. No. The union can't guarantee you anything — it only can negotiate in an attempt to reach an agreement. When a union person tells you that its contract will provide for higher wages and better working conditions, he is making promises which he knows he may not be able to keep. Of course, the law allows the union person to promise almost anything, but there is no requirement that the union make good on any of the promises.

Q. Can I get rid of a union once it has been elected to represent me?

A. Unions are extremely difficult to get rid of once they are elected and certified by the National Labor Relations Board.

Q. Can I work during a strike?

A. Yes. However, if you are a member of the union on strike and cross a picket line, the union may have a right to impose discipline upon you, including fines.

CHARGES DROPPED

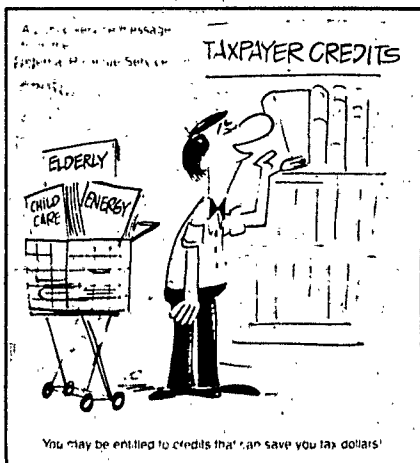

Following a Feb. 26 report in The Sea Coast Echo regarding the union election, UMC filed 'unfair labor practice charges' with the NLRB against the pipefitters union.

The charges were a result of statements by union officials regarding allegations of illegal aliens working at the plant site.

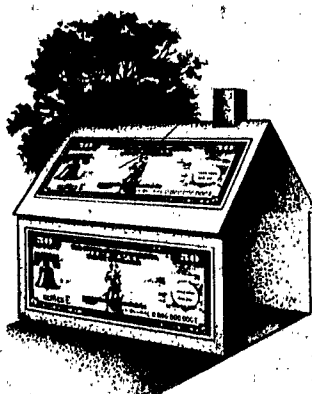

However, Norton said UMC withdrew the charges March 10.

Another UMC notice also posted at the plant site at about 3 p.m. March 2 regarding the charges states, "UMC, Inc. feels that the above noted statements (made by union officials and published in the Echo article of Feb. 26) represent an attempt by the union to harass and intimidate our employees."

"Thus, we are in the process of filing unfair labor practice charges against the union with the NLRB in New Orleans in order to protect all of our employees from such harassment," concluded the notice signed 'Sincerely, UMC, Inc. Management'.

Development Engineers to submit a pre-application to the Bureau of Marine Resources in Jackson to obtain funds available from the Coastal Energy Impact Program for construction of a paved road.

A report submitted to the board by ADI states, "it is evident that there is a considerable amount of heavy truck traffic operating over this road at weights which approach the State Load Limit for Primary Roads."

That report recommends three possible construction alternatives for an access road to McLeod Park.

One: That the board maintain the road in its present condition;

Two: The board construct an access road with load limit of 57,650 pounds;

Three: The board request the oil companies pay the additional cost required to make Texas Flat Road from Hwy. 603 to Junior Road a primary road of 73,280 pound capacity.

The letter from Gex to the four oil companies states, "If alternative number one or two is pursued, please be assured that Mr. Perniciaro, Supervisor of Beat Three, has advised me that he must enforce the current load limit for access roads of 57,650 pounds per unit."

The four companies to which Gex sent letters include Billups Petroleum, United Gas Pipeline Company, Marshall R. Young Oil Company, and Crystal Oil Company.

Smith said after the meeting, "I am waiting on a response from the oil companies before submitting an application."

He said if the oil companies agree to pay part of the cost then the pre-application submitted will deal with a primary road.

James Lindsay, treating plant superintendent for United Gas Pipeline Company in Bay St. Louis said he received the letter Monday and that the letter will be sent to the District office in Mobile and later to the main office in New Orleans where a decision will be made.

"We will hopefully get a decision in one or one and one-half weeks," he said. Bob Specht of the Crystal Oil Company said he had not received the letter yet but would send the letter to the "home office" in Shreveport, La. for the final decision.

Milford Gaston of Billups Petroleum and Louis H. Breau IV of United Gas Pipeline, could not be reached for comment.

Board members Sam Perniciaro and Gex had met with oil companies at a meeting March 10 to discuss the situation.

Lindsay said the letter received from Gex was a "formal statement" of what had been discussed at that meeting.

In further business, Gex asked Dr. William D. Fitzgerald, the first full time Doctor at the State Health Department on Dunbar Street in Bay St. Louis, if he could visit the Hancock County Jail to give medical attention and assistance to prisoners.

Gex asked the Doctor if he could come every other week and if a nurse could make visit during the weeks in between.

Fitzgerald said he was waiting for a response from the state office and district office concerning the matter.

Gex asked the doctor if he would inform both offices he had been formally requested.

Fitzgerald recently moved to Waveland from New Orleans where he worked at the Oschner Clinic for a number of years.

He said he plans to be a permanent resident in the area.

Fitzgerald will be working in Hancock County Monday, Wednesday and Friday at the Health Department.

Tuesday and Thursday he will travel to Pearl River County.

Also during the 9 a.m. meeting in the Hancock County Courthouse, the board heard from Michael Haas, attorney for the Kiln Water and Fire Protection District about rate changes in fire insurance coverage in that area.

The Kiln Fire District has recently received an improved fire insurance classification of Class Nine from the Mississippi State Rating Bureau.

The district was formerly classified as a Class Eleven.

Haas explained that home owners in the area covered by a standard $10,000 fire policy living in a framed wooden house will save 28 percent of the cost for insurance because of the reclassification.

Home owners with a standard fire policy living in a brick framed house will save 22 percent.

He said a number of younger residents in the community are covered with a home owners policy.

Savings with that type of insurance will be seven percent with the new classification for a wooden structure and three percent for a brick structure.

Further reclassification to a Class Eight will reduce insurance rates even more in the future.

The department thanked the board of supervisors for their encouragement and "stubbornness" in working toward increasing the fire protection in the area.

In further business, the board:

—Took under advisement all county supply bids for the 1981 year;

—Accepted a $19,538 bid for paving of Shiyou Road and a $11,862 bid for paving Paradise Lane from Pearl River Paving Company. Both roads are located in Sam Perniciaro's Beat Four District; —Accepted a $19,442 bid from Gulf Construction Company of Bay St. Louis for driving pylons at the Turtle Skin Bridge on Texas Flat Road and a $11,862 bid from the same company for capping of those pylons;

—Approved purchasing 6,400 three cent stamps for the county assessor tax collector's office;

—Took bids for the paving of Cuevas Town Road under advisement. The Road is in Roger Dale Ladner's Beat Three;

—Accepted a $1,760 bid from Neely Reprographics Services Inc. of Jackson for a blue print machine for the county tax collector-assessor's office;

—Reappointed L. J. Breaux to the Pearl River Basin Development District;

—Accepted the resignation of Dennis Tartavouille from the Humane Society Board and accepted Lou Fernandez as a replacement;

—Accepted a $2,070 bid from Lester Bosarge for a ball park fence in Beat Three;

—Accepted a $372 bid from McKay of Jackson for two two-way radios. One for Beat Three and a second for one of the civil defense trucks.

BAY DECA CLUB WINNERS—Bay Senior High School Distributive Education Club of America members winning awards at a recent district competition at the Gulf Coast Convention Center in Biloxi are, standing from left, junior Susan Robinson of Bay St. Louis who won third place in the apparel and accessories area of the manager-owner division, senior Kirk Lander of Bay St. Louis winning third in general merchandising in the master employee division, sophomore Debbie McCullough of Waveland winning third in the food services area of the manager-owner division; and seated left, senior Robin Morel of Bay St. Louis winning first in the apparel and accessories area of manager-owner division, and Mary Jo

Billiot of Waveland winning second in the accounting area of the business division. The winners were out of 12 Bay High students competing in the event with 15 other Mississippi Gulf Coast chapters. Bay High Chapter Advisor Gloria Biggers said the local chapter participated in all 12 categories which included a written test and a case study performed in front of a panel of judges. The winners are now eligible to compete in a state DECA conference April 4-7 also slated at the Biloxi center. In addition, junior Margaret Caruso of Waveland and Robinson successfully completed a written test and interview to qualify to enter a statewide DECA officer election. Bay Junior students successful in YMCA Youth Legislature

Bay Junior High Students David Raynaud, Gifford Pace, Larry Giveans, and Craig Orgeron recently participated in the annual Mississippi State Youth Legislature sponsored by the State YMCA in Jackson.

To attend the Youth Legislature the students had to submit two bills written on a state approved level, that had to be beneficial to the people of Mississippi.

At the legislative session there were over 25 Mississippi schools represented with a total of more than 300 delegates.

Each delegate served in the capacity either as a senator or a representative. All students were assigned to committees to work on bills and all were expected to take part in debate, the lobby process, and arguing their bills before both houses of the legislature.

The four delegates from Bay St. Louis were successful with two bills, which had to do with bus safety and railroad safety.

Both of the bills were sent to a house committee where they were debated and passed. They were then passed through the House of Representatives and sent to the Senate Committees.

The Senate committee tried to kill one of Bay Junior High's bills, but after much debate and lobbying, both bills made it to the Senate.

The Youth Senate was all for the bus safety bill and passed it without much opposition.

However, a train safety bill was debated for over an hour. When the final vote was taken however, both bills had passed both houses.

There were more than 140 bills presented to the committees for possible consideration.

Only 46 bills made it out of committee, and of those there were only 25 that passed both houses.

"We feel very proud that both the bills submitted by the Bay delegates made it through both houses of the Youth Congress," said advisor Mike Hamm.

"Not only did the four delegates get their bills passed, but also learned a great deal about legislature process, parliamentary procedure and amendment of bills," he added.

The four delegates also toured the Governor's Mansion and heard speeches by the governor, lieutenant governor, and the Chief Justice of the State Supreme Court.

Ole Miss to host career day Friday

Hundreds of high school and junior college students from throughout Mississippi are expected to attend Academic Career Day, Friday at The University of Mississippi.

The day-long event is designed to allow students to examine career opportunities in various academic areas. Activities are scheduled from 9:30 a.m.—3 p.m., beginning with a welcome at Fulton Chapel on campus. This year there will be centralized parking for visitors with Colonel Reb, the University's mascot, greeting guests in the parking area as they arrive for the day's events.

Various schools and departments at the University will set up booths with information on careers and academic programs in the Ole Miss Union lobby. Representatives of the Ole Miss admissions and financial aid offices also will be on hand to answer questions from visitors.

Academic Career Day visitors will be guests at a free lunch hosted by Chancellor Porter L. Fortune, Vice-Chancellor Harvey Lewis and the academic deans in the Union ballroom. Members of the M-Club will serve soft drinks.

A campus-wide open house will include demonstrations and projects by Ole Miss students and faculty members as well as exhibits of industrial firms from different career areas. Visitors may tour campus facilities including the John Davis Williams Library, the University Museums and student housing. Tours also will be conducted by the Law Center, the School of Engineering, the School of Pharmacy, the Daily Mississippian, the Center for the Study of Southern Culture and the Communication and Resource Center.

Entertainment for the day will include a performance by The Group, the University's song-and-dance team, and by the Jazz Bands, the University Choir, the Black Choir, the Modeling Board and the Navy drill team. Students from the art department will sponsor the Great Egg Drop, a competition in which they design colorful eggs and then devise ways to float them from the balcony to the floor without breaking.

Intramural games in the Grove will include Frisbee and horseshoes. During the day there will be a special conference for professional development of high school and junior college counselors. The University Bands will hold auditions Saturday, March 21, for 1981-82 marching and concert bands. High school and junior college students who wish to try out for the Ole Miss bands will be required to present a prepared solo and to sight-read a selection. All members of the Ole Miss band receive a scholarship, with amount depending upon playing ability. Further information about Academic Career Day is available through the Ole Miss Pre-Admissions Office, University, Ms 38677, or by calling 1-800-222-5102, the University's toll-free number in Mississippi.

Turkey season opens Mar. 21

Mississippi turkey hunters should expect another record season this spring, according to the Department of Wildlife Conservation.

There is absolutely no reason why Mississippi turkey hunters should not expect another record season this spring.

When turkey hunting gets underway March 21, more birds may be harvested during both seasons than in any previous hunting period. The first season closes April 9, reopening April 11 and extending through May 3.

With a statewide population of turkeys number around 200,000 good hunting is expected in those areas where the birds are abundant.

During the upcoming spring seasons, some 66 counties or parts of counties will be open for gobble hunting. Published figures by the state Department of Wildlife Conservation suggests that over 35,000 state hunters will spend nearly 213,000 man-days afield turkey hunting.

The anticipated turkey harvest should be about 20,000 birds. Managed hunts will be permitted on 20 of the state's 28 wildlife management units. These are open to public hunting and provide a place for those who are not members of clubs.

Last year about 1130 gobblers were taken on management areas operated by the Department on private, state and federal lands.

In 1966 only four public areas were open for turkey hunting. These produced a paltry 46 birds. During the ensuing 24 years since this meager beginning, turkey harvests have grown by leaps and bounds.

"It is no secret that Mississippi's turkey population has mushroomed beyond belief and the state is now ranking in the top four states nationally," commented executive director Richard Yancey.

"The turkey management program over the past two or three decades has been an outstanding success thanks to good protection by many people in the state, intensive law enforcement, good habitat conditions and the Department's trapping and transplanting program which continues today," he said.

Yancey explained that the Department's long term goal is to establish turkey populations in all areas of suitable habitat in the state. "While much has been accomplished in the past, more work will be necessary in the years ahead if the final objective is to be reached," he said.

This year hunters will be permitted one gobbler per day, two per season, but not more than three per license year. Hunting over bait or with the aid of electronic devices is not only unsportsmanlike but is strictly illegal. Shooting from a vehicle, hunting from a public road or using dogs or live decoys is also prohibited by law.

Wildlife enforcement officials say hunters must have a valid hunting license before going after a gobbler. Hunting hours are one-half hour before sunrise until one-half hour after sunset.

Yancey cautioned all turkey hunters to practice hunter safety in the strictest sense of the word. "Be positive that your target is a gobbler and not a hen turkey or another hunter in camouflage. Don't let your hunt end up with a citation or a tragedy," he said.

Turkey hunting this year will be permitted in all counties except the closed counties of: Alcorn; Chickasaw, all south of Hwy. 8 and all west of Hwy. 15; Hinds, east of Hwy. 49; Humphreys; Itawamba, west of Tombigbee River; Lee; Leflore, south of Hwy. 82; Madison, west of I-55 N and east of Hwy. 49 and south of State Hwy. 22; Monroe; Panola; Pontotoc, all west of Hwy. 15 and all north of Old Troy Road to Hwy. 41 and Woodland Road to Lee County line; Prentiss; Quitman; Tallahatchie, that portion north of Hwy. 32 east of the Tallahatchie River; Tishomingo; Union.

DUCK STAMP CONTEST
A final reminder from the Department of Wildlife Conservation—

All resident amateur and professional artists are encouraged to get their entries for this year's waterfowl stamp art competition into the Department's Jackson office by 5 p.m., Friday, March 20. This is the final day of this year's annual art competition.

According to a contest spokesman, the artwork judging will be held the next week to select the winning entry. The art will be used later in the year by the Department on the state duck stamp.

The spokesman said all entries must meet certain size and other requirements. Artists having questions about their entry are encouraged to call the Department's Jackson office at 961-5348.

Trailing Vanceave, 4-3, Bay High pitcher David Strong blasted a solo home run in the top of the seventh to send the contest into extra innings.

The Tigers won the high school baseball game, 7-4, by pushing across 3 runs in the ninth Monday night in Vanceave.

Strong, (2-0), earned the win, pitching all nine innings, and also led the Tigers at the plate, with 2 doubles, a single, and a home run.

Scotty Adam and Mark Breland collected two hits each. Strong and Adam both drove in two runs.

Bay High made it two road victories in a row and evened their season mark at 3-3, with a 17-8 plastering of St. John Tuesday in Gulfport.

The Tigers jumped on the Eagles for three runs in the first and built a seven run cushion before St. John scored in the third inning.

Steve Seymour, (1-1), was credited with the win with relief help from Harold Netto.

Scotty Adam, David Strong, Joe Bye, and Mark Breland drove in two runs each. Bye slammed a home run and Mark Manieri whacked two triples.

"We've played some good ball, we could easily be 6-0," coach Eddie Carnley stated. "This conference is more competitive than ever and I wouldn't be surprised to see the eventual champs have one or maybe even two losses. I don't think anyone will go undefeated," the Tiger coach added.

Bay High will travel to East Central for their next ballgame. Starting time for this conference contest is 7 p.m.

"East Central is a must win for us," Carnley commented. "We can't afford to have another conference loss."

St. Stanislaus dropped two close ball games this week, one to East Central, 8-5, and to Stone County, 4-3.

After building a 5-1 advantage over East Central Saturday afternoon, the Rocks could not stop the Hornets as they scored seven unanswered runs.

Andrew Haas was tagged for the loss.

Tuesday afternoon Stone County came from behind to trip the Rock-A-Chows by scoring an unearned run in the seventh inning.

Brian Logan was the loser, pitching in relief of Gus Alme. Sean Logan, Joe Gex, and Brad Lamey each collected two hits. Logan also swatted a two run homer and Lamey and Andrew Haas both connected with doubles.

"Any time you have a lead in a ball game and lose, either your pitching or defensive play is the cause," Coach Fred Weems reported.

"As far as the conference race is concerned, we still have a good shot. There is no dominate team and it should go down to the wire," the Rock-A-Chow coach said.

St. Stanislaus is 4-3 for the season and 1-0 in conference play. The Rocks next game is with Vanceave at 2:30 p.m. tomorrow in Bay St. Louis.

WAVELAND TAXIDERMY'S DISPLAY — City County Library in Bay St. Louis this month is displaying a small sampling of the work of local artist-taxidermist Bob Davis. Davis has been learning his trade for the past 18 years. He doesn't hunt, but believes any life taken should be utilized completely. Therefore he depends on friends who hunt and 'road kills' for his own specimens. During the mounting process, he often refers to detailed photographic studies in order to recapture as life-like an expression as possible. Davis says, "I never consider the amount of time involved, because I mount each specimen as if it were for myself." (Staff photo by Wayne Ducomb Jr.)

Sports Brief

LADY REBEL TENNIS

The Ole Miss Lady Rebel tennis team opened the 1981 season with three consecutive home wins over Alabama, Northeast Louisiana and LSU.

It marked the first time ever that Ole Miss had beaten Northeast Louisiana and LSU, a pair of teams that finished in the top twenty in the country last season.

"We had a tremendous effort on the part of all of our players," Coach Billy Chadwick said of the Lady Rebs three wins. "We had clutch performances in every match."

"This is certainly a great way to start our season," Chadwick continued, "and it will give us a big lift for some big matches we have coming up in the next few days."

The Lady Rebs have done exceptionally well in singles competition, winning four of the six matches against Alabama, LSU and Northeast Louisiana.

"We have a good, solid team from top to bottom," Chadwick noted. "There's no question that we have better depth this year than probably every before here at Ole Miss."

WHITNEY JOHNSTON will be among 18 Gulf Coast Junior College students to vie for the title of Miss Perkinston Campus on Thursday, March 26. The preliminary Miss Mississippi Pageant will be at 8 p.m. in Malone Hall at Perkinston. She is daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Huey Johnston of Bay St. Louis. Also competing is Desiree Davion, daughter of Mrs. Clarence C. Davion of Pass Christian and the late Clarence Davion.

Comfort stages stunning upset in Sunday's Oak Downs feature

(Special to The Sea Coast Echo)
PEARL RIVER, La.—Marty Comfort, a jockey from Hancock County, figured he would be just along for the ride in Sunday's bit $3,000—purse feature race at Oak Downs.

Comfort was riding Some Kind of Bad, a futurity winner last November, but a decided underdog in the six-horse field that included Black Gold, a strong campaigner at Delta Downs in Vinton.

But when the field had streaked past the finish line in the 440-yard contest, Some Kind of Bad was the first across and Comfort stood up in the irons, waving his bat in a victory gesture.

Picked by many to finish dead last, Some Kind of Bad had pulled a stunning upset. The winning time was 22.70 seconds.

Some Kind of Bad is owned and trained by Chris Dunn of Richton, Miss.

The favorite, Black Gold, was fourth. Breaking on top and leading most of the way was Oscar Meyer, a Hancock County horse owned by Clyde Moran and trained by Oliver Moran of the Kiln Community. Oscar Meyer was a half length behind at 22.78.

George's Boy, owned and trained by Edward Patten of Bay St. Louis, was a winner by a head over Florida Man in the 1/2-mile 16th race. Marty Comfort rode the winner.

In another race involving a Hancock County horse, Rocky Hill Bailey, owned and trained by James Watson of Waveland, ran second in the 350-yard 14th race, but it took a Class AAA performance by Linda Thraa Bars (18.13) to beat the steady performer.

Rocky Hill Bailey was clocked in a solid Class AA time of 18.41.

Sunday's feature race won by Some Kind of Bad was the first in a series of "open" races to be held at Oak Downs, according to Louis Smith, one of the track's operators.

A $500 entry fee was put up for each horse with the winner taking down a $3,000 purse.

Smith said an open race for thoroughbreds over a distance of 1/2-mile will be held this Sunday. Entry fee will be $300.

And three open races will be run Easter Sunday. One will be for quarterhorses three years old and up with an entry fee of $500. The distance will be 300 yards.

Two other 350-yard races, but for two-year-old quarterhorses only, will be run. One division will be for a $300 entry fee and the other for a $100 entry fee.

Special races for Shetland ponies begun two weeks ago also will continue, said Smith.

Winning the second straight Sunday in a race featuring ponies and a mule was Prince, owned by Kristi Mulford of Wiggins, Miss.

A trophy was presented to the winning pony's owner by the Oak Downs management. Smith said winners of all pony races will receive a trophy. JoAnn Boatwright of Cantonment, Fla., Oak Downs' leading jockey, posted six wins Sunday, but up-and-coming rider Leo Fricke of Picaune kept pace with the leader by also notching six victories.

Post time each Sunday at Oak Downs is 1 p.m.

Fearless find new thrills in wrestling with catfish

By TOM HOAR
DAILY MISSISSIPPIAN
NEWS SERVICE

For every Mississippian who thrills to the sight of a big bass smashing a topwater lure, there are probably three that think fishing is boring. After all, how exciting can fishing be?

Plenty. But if the traditional methods don't turn you on, perhaps "grabbling" or "noodling" will. This method provides thrills and a very real danger to the participant.

No fishing tackle is required for grabbling, only a boat, a partner, a strong arm and plenty of guts.

Grabbling in its simplest terms is feeling around inside hollow, submerged logs.

Many grabblers solve the problem of finding sunken logs by placing their own in strategic locations in lakes or rivers. The log must be at least three feet under the surface in five to fifteen feet of water, so the grabbler must get out of the boat to do his job.

During the early part of the grabbling season, the water is somewhat cold...Thrill number one.

The second thrill comes once the grabbler's arm is inside the log. Huge catfish use the hollow logs for nesting, and they are the grabbler's targets.

The grabbler gets his third thrill when he remembers that one end of his log was blocked off before putting it in place, and that his arm is now blocking the other end.

Generally, a hand and arm roaming around in a nesting log won't upset a big catfish too much, so the grabbler feels around until he finds the fish's mouth.

If sticking one's hand into the mouth of a catfish weighing up to 70 pounds isn't exciting, nothing is.

Gathering as much courage as possible, the grabbler waits until the fish opens its mouth and then, ramming his arm in as far as possible, grabs all the catfish throat he can.

Grabbling variations occur at this point. The biggest problem with the above method has to do with a big catfish's inconsiderate tendency to bite. A catfish does have "teeth" of sorts, and they can do a pretty good job of tearing up one's arm.

Many grabblers grab the fish behind the gills, avoiding the through-the-mouth method. Some loop a rope through the fish's mouth and out its gill covers.

It really doesn't matter how it's done, the grabbler still ends up with a whole lot of mad catfish at very close range. Talk about excitement!

Grabbling offers a final thrill. It's not always a catfish that's found once the arm is in the log. Turtles and even snakes sometimes inhabit logs if air pockets exist.

Besides providing thrills, grabbling is dangerous. Big catfish have seriously injured and even killed experienced grabblers.

Grabbling is not an individual sport. There must be someone in the boat to help get fish aboard and in case of emergencies.

Grabbling season begins May 1 and extends through July 31. A fishing license is required for grabbling.

The "playoff" can be awesome, catfish of 60 pounds are taken with some regularity, and a 60-pound catfish "at arm's length," can be very exciting.

Vicksburg five-miler benefits Easter Seals

Phil Carpenter, a Class III World Wheelchair Marathon Champion in 1981, will be teaming with Easter Seals on Saturday to participate in the Vicksburg Run Through History, a 6.2-mile race through the Vicksburg National Military Park.

Carpenter will celebrate the International Year of Disabled Persons, proclaimed the United Nations by pushing his way from Los Angeles to the United Nations building in New York later this summer.

Run Through History kicks off the Vicksburg Pilgrimage and is sponsored by the Vicksburg Ramada Inn. The event will begin Friday with a spaghetti supper for the runners at 5:30 p.m., followed by a Runner's Seminar with speakers including Phil Carpenter, John Parker, Joyce McIntosh, Jim Ewing and Tommy Ross.

The race, which starts at 9 a.m. at the Vicksburg Ramada Inn will wind through the National Military Park.

Following the race, sandwiches and beverages will be served and an awards ceremony will be held. A live band will also be playing.

The Mississippi Easter Seal Society is requesting that each participant ask individual businesses and clubs to sponsor them in the run. There is no limit on the amount of sponsored donations.

However, the runner with the largest donation will receive a week's paid vacation for two at the exclusive Grand Hotel in Point Clear, Alabama.

Registration fee is $5 and includes the race, the runner's seminar and picnic.

The registration fee on the day of the race will be $6 from 7:30 a.m. to 8:45 a.m.

THE FIFTIES: MOMENTS TO REMEMBER—A star-studded cast pays tribute to the non-rock music of the fifties on a special program at 8 p.m., Saturday, March 21, on the Mississippi ETV Network. The program, "The Fifties: Moments to Remember," stars, clockwise beginning at upper left, Arthur Godfrey, Bob and Ray, Teresa Brewer and Patti Page.

Carnival group plans tourney.

The First Annual Long Beach Carnival Association Mixed Doubles Tennis Tournament will be held April 4 and 5, at the tennis center of the Racquet Club Apartments in Gulfport.

There will be A and B divisions with trophies to be awarded to the first two places.

Entry fee is $10 per person. Play will begin at 9 a.m.

Sports Brief

ALL-SEC TRACK
Junior Mike Turner, who finished second in the 880-yard run at the SEC Indoors, has been named to the All-Southeastern Conference Indoor Track team following the 25th Annual Track and Field Championships at LSU in Baton Rouge.

The Forest, Miss. native turned in a 1:53.93 timing to claim the second place finish over runners from Auburn, Alabama, Florida and Georgia.

"We had a very good effort in the meet," said Coach Joe Walker, "and we're pleased with the results. Last year we didn't score any points and this time we scored 14, so we feel like we're on our way."

Clarence Daniel posted a fifth place finish in the 440-yard dash with a 48.76 time while K.C. Nielson was fifth in the three mile run with a 14:10.20 time. Bill Gower was sixth in the 600-yard run with a 1:12.07 mark.

The Rebel two-mile relay team, composed of Gower, Turner, Nicky Nelson and Bob Roberts, earned sixth place in that event with a 7:44.01 timing.

The WTBS-originated weekly football review hosted by Bob Neal, voice of the Atlanta Falcons, and football legends Paul Hightower, Alex Hawkins and Norm Van Brocklin, has been selected as a finalist in the annual Iris Awards, sponsored by the National Association of Television Program Executives, Inc.

24. In Memoriam
IN MEMORY OF MARGARET FRANCES LADNER
Died March 19, 1961
DEAR MOTHER
Twenty years from this day, The angels took you far away. It seems they didn't know Just how much we'd miss you so. Mother, we're all adults, now, And I hope you're proud of us somehow. The youngest just turned twenty-one; When you left, he was only one. Thru these twenty years there's been, Times we've missed you again & again. Special occasions with you not there, Sometimes seemed impossible to bear. Our weddings and graduations we had, Not many knew our hearts were sad. But the saddest moments we knew, Were when we became parents, too. Mother, we know we'll meet one day In that land so far away. So until that joyous day, Guide our footsteps everyday. And let your goodness show, Through us so others can know; Although you've been gone so long, Your memory lives on and on. Darrell, Sandra & Brad 3-19-pd

Governor's Council on Fitness offers health improvement tips

Physical fitness involves much more than just exercise. It is true that a regular exercise program is necessary to be physically fit, but other factors such as proper eating habits and the reduction of risk factors such as cigarette smoking, alcohol abuse and drug abuse are very important in determining one's health.

The Governor's Council on Physical Fitness and Sports is beginning a lifestyle awareness program called GOAL (Governor's Office Awareness of Lifestyles). The GOAL program is aimed at improving one's health and general well-being through an altering or modification of one's lifestyle.

The year-long program will deal with exercise, eating habits, tobacco use, alcohol and drug use, untreated hypertension, stress control and safety.

A test is being provided by the United States Department of Health and Human Services to evaluate lifestyle.

The publication will be available by the end of March by writing GOAL, Office of the Governor, Walter Sillers Building Jackson.

Remember that exercise involves three areas of activity, flexibility or stretching, strength, and endurance.

A healthy exercise program should involve 30 to 40 minutes a day, three or four days a week.

Your goal should be to improve your health, not to immediately become a road racer or body builder.

Q. How should I breathe while exercising?

A. Breathe naturally. Don't attempt any breathing patterns, such as holding your breath or breathing only through your nose. The mouth is a wide hole, and the resistance to the flow of air is less than through the nostrils. If you find that you are wheezing or unable to carry on a conversation while exercising slow down.

Q. Should women exercise differently than men?

A. Women can take in all the activities recommended for men. The limiting factors are the same as for men. Have you been active all your life? If not, begin slowly. Muscles and tendons are easy to strain. Turned ankles are common when just starting exercise programs. There is no reason that women can not compete or participate against men, too, if they wish.

Activities such as racquetball, handball, swimming, cycling, running, roller skating, etc., can provide a competitive element to activities that already rate highly in fitness value.

Q. Is sweating harmful?

A. No! It is a good indication of an efficient body system if you sweat profusely. Your body wants to maintain a near normal temperature, and sweating while exercising helps keep the temperature from rising too high.

The water loss should be replaced, so don't hesitate to have a drink of water or electrolyte solution if you are participating on a hot day and are sweating profusely.

Q. Do saunas, steam baths, or rubberized sweat suits promote weight loss?

A. Yes and No. You do lose weight (water loss) through sweating. However this is only a temporary loss. Your body will retain more water from the foods and beverages you swallow following the exercise or sauna, and your weight will return to what it was before sweating.

Q. Should I have a hot sauna or whirlpool after a vigorous game or exercise?

A. We recommend you warm down and then cool down before going into the sauna or whirlpool. The warm water or air keeps the skin's blood vessels open and less blood returns for the heart to pump it to the head. Coupled with the inactivity in the sauna or whirlpool as you sit, you can then experience lightheadedness or fainting. Obviously, this can be dangerous in a whirlpool.

Q. What time of the day should I exercise?

A. The only time not to exercise is in the hot noon day sun during the summer months. This hot period puts an additional strain on your body and for the two-to-three months of the year that we have such a heat exposure, switch to the morning or evening. We also recommend you wait at least an hour after eating.

Q. Am I too old to get started?

A. No. Try it. Be active. But remember to check with your doctor before beginning. Bone development, joint flexibility and muscular endurance decrease with lack of use and increase with use. Light activities are highly recommended for those starting an exercise program and for people over 55 years of age. Common sense is the best criterion when choosing your activities. Your degree of participation should not result in overexertion. Set a pace that feels comfortable.

Q. I have a bad back. Should I exercise?

A. If you have any kind of back trouble, it is wise to see your family physician before beginning an exercise program. It is unlikely, however, that he or she will suggest you be inactive. Many people with bad backs are far more serious about exercising than those who are problem free.

The pelvic tilt is an essential part of any such exercise program. Lie down on your back, with knees bent and feet flat on floor. Now tighten abdominal muscles (it isn't necessary to hold your breath), flatten the small of your back against the floor by pulling your hips back, but don't push with the feet; all the pull should come from the abdominal muscles.

The pelvic tilt is used as a preparatory contraction before all other back exercises.

Here is one further exercise for your back. Again, lie on your back, with the knees bent. Now raise your back and shoulders six to eight inches from the floor and then gently lower them again. Repeat this ten to twenty times. Remember that all exercise should be done with ease. Do not force or persist with an exercise that causes increased or continuous pain.

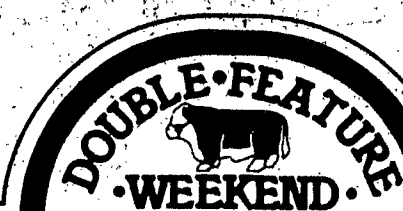

Q. Are swimming and bicycling good forms of exercise?

A. They are good exercises if you monitor your pulse rate and, to begin with, increase it so it reaches the minimum level. The minimum level is 170 minus your age. Maintain it at the minimum level for at least 5 minutes, then work towards half an hour.

If you have a joint or muscle injury these exercises are recommended until you are physically back on the ground again.

WHY YOU NEED MORTGAGE PROTECTION

Is it important to you that your home be free and clear of a mortgage at your death?

Statistics show there's a far greater chance you'll die before your mortgage runs out than there is of your house being destroyed by fire or other disaster (for which you most likely already have adequate insurance).

What kind of financial picture would your family face without your income?

Providing mortgage protection coverage is surprisingly low in cost, regardless of what your mortgage balance happens to be.

Get the facts. Ask me about our Mortgage Life Protection plans. Dick Kosbab

NASA seeks computer operation contractor

National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Marshall Space Flight Center in Huntsville, Ala., recently released a "Request for Proposal" inviting firms to compete for a contract to operate the Marshall Center's Slidell Computer Complex in Louisiana. "The contract, expected to be awarded in July 1981, will be for an initial period of one year. Included will be options for four one-year extensions," NASA spokesman Terry

Eddleman said. "The contractor selected will become responsible for operating and maintaining the computers; designing storage and filing systems for data; maintaining inventory control over the equipment in the facility; and studying ways to improve the computer's operation," Eddleman explained.

"Other services to be provided include preparation of technical reports, and the gathering and processing of data from experiment tests on NASA systems," he noted.

"The contractor will also be responsible for managing the facility operations at the Slidell complex. This includes plant engineering and maintenance, supply, utilities, and other services," Eddleman stated.

"The request includes opportunities for subcontracting with small businesses and with small, disadvantaged business concerns," he reported.

"A 'Source' Evaluation Board at the Marshall Center will evaluate all proposals from prospective contractors and will make recommendations to the NASA Headquarters in Washington, D. C., which will make the final selection," Eddleman concluded.

"A national program of American Forest Institute, the Tree Farm program in Mississippi is administered by Mississippi Forestry Association, 620 North State Street, Jackson. Tree Farm applications may be mailed to MFA or to a local county Tree Farm Chairman," Meeks adds.

Rand D. Riedrich, Hancock County Forester is Tree Farm chairman for the county.

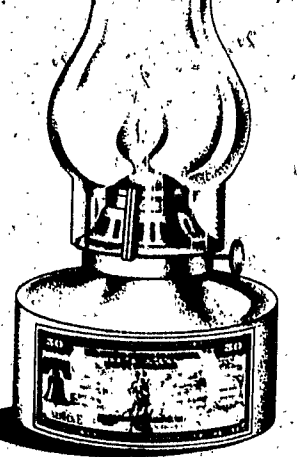

Mississippi timberland owners who would like to become certified tree farmers are urged to act now, says Bynum Meeks of Brookhaven, chairman of Mississippi Forestry Association's Tree Farm Committee.

"Currently, Mississippi has slightly more than 5,000 Tree Farms, more than any other state in the nation. These farms total approximately 3,984,000 forested acres. This indicates that a large number of small landowners are included in the program," states Meeks.

"Owners must apply for Tree Farm status and allow a qualified forester to inspect their lands. Minimum area is

FIRST GAS PUMPS IN 30 YEARS—C. K. Williams fills his automobile tank with gasoline at Woods Grocery and Hardware Store in Pearlington. What's in a Name? Passive Made Simple What's in a name? "Passive" solar energy, the harnessing of the sun's heat without the use of solar panels, has an identity crisis. Few people know what it means. The name doesn't help.

The concept is so simple that people have difficulty believing it works. Actually, the idea is as old as the cliff dwellers whose caves faced southward.

There is renewed interest in this concept everywhere today, including the U.S. Department of Energy and the building industry. Homeowners across the country will become more familiar with passive solar in the next few years as thousands of new energy-saving homes designed for "passive" solar come on the market.

GIVING IT A SHOT—Fire Fighter Louie Prendergrast of the East Hancock Volunteer Fire Department helps douse a blaze recently at Albert McNeal's residence at the corner of Cameo of Ibis Street in Shoreline Park. A grass fire, believed to have been started by an arsonist, burned structures and vehicles on the McNeal property. Fire fighters from Bay St. Louis, Waveland, Diamondhead, and BaySide and East Hancock Volunteer Fire Departments extinguished the blaze. (Staff photo by Wayne Ducomb Jr.)

Brief

Get Free Heat

Passive solar works on the basis of the seasonal positions of the sun in the sky. In winter, the sun is low enabling its heat to penetrate large south-facing windows. The heat enters a home and is trapped behind the glass. In summer when the sun is high, awnings, roof overhangs or leaf-bearing trees provide shade.

Waveland Players going western with 'Deadwood Dick' production

The Waveland Players will present a Gay 90's melodrama with music in three acts—'Deadwood Dick or, the Game of Gold', by Tom Taggart. Based on the dime novels of Edward L. Wheeler, the production will be staged at the Waveland Civic Center on Coleman Avenue.

Play dates and times are Friday and Saturday, March 27 and 28, at 8:15 p.m. Sunday March 29 at 3 p.m., and again on Friday and Saturday, April 3 and 4 at 8:15 p.m.

Tickets are $3 per person and will be available at the door.

The play can also be seen at the Diamondhead Country Club Friday, April 10, by reservation only.

The shoot-em-up play promises a good down-home evening of raucous entertainment.

Plan to come in western duds, because you'll be spending the evening in the Waveland Players' Wild-West Saloon, otherwise known as Calamity Jane's Man-Trap.

Refreshments will be available and will be served by 'Saloon Girls' who will also entertain between acts.

Directed by Ted Stechmann and Terry Simpson, and produced by Dick Fitch, play action is fast and furious.

Be prepared to boo and hiss the villain, Black'n Red, superbly played by Walter Vaughn (he gives a performance you will not soon forget!); and to cheer the heroes and heroines with gusto.

The cast is headed by Walter Vaughn as the true-black villain, Anthony Poffenberger and Frank Richter as the handsome heroes, and Susan Smith and Elizabeth Hart as the much-abused delicate heroines.

Rounding out the cast are Ed Craig (the Judge), Barbara Jo Fitch (Calamity Jane herself), Hansel Baxter (a Spanish siren), Jeanne-Marie Bell (a Chinese cook), Ed Ling (the bartender), Bunk Gardner (the Sheriff), Dottie Overal (his wife), Edith Bierhorst Back (our very own Carrie Nation!), and Pam Baumgartner (the piano player).

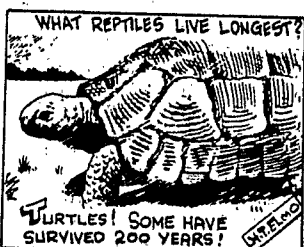

They are assisted by Jeanie Moran and Herta Lewis (Temperance Workers); Daryl Choina, Terry Simpson, David Bryan, and Derek Stechmann (Miners); and Janet Aime, Beryl Lynch, Frances Metteer, Caroline Adam, Catchie Choina, Alla Mae Lambert, Janelle McLain, Barbara Pursley, Amy Welch, Niccola Dietrich, Connie Moran, Connie Ellis, Cola Dietrich, Teresa Ehrlich, Monica Parker, Hansel Baxter (la Paloma), Christy McNeal, and Piccola Dietrich as the saloon girls.

Entertainment during the intermissions will be provided by the Sweet Adelines Quartet, Janet Aime, Dick Fitch, Janelle McLain, and Caroline Adam, and all the Saloon Girls.

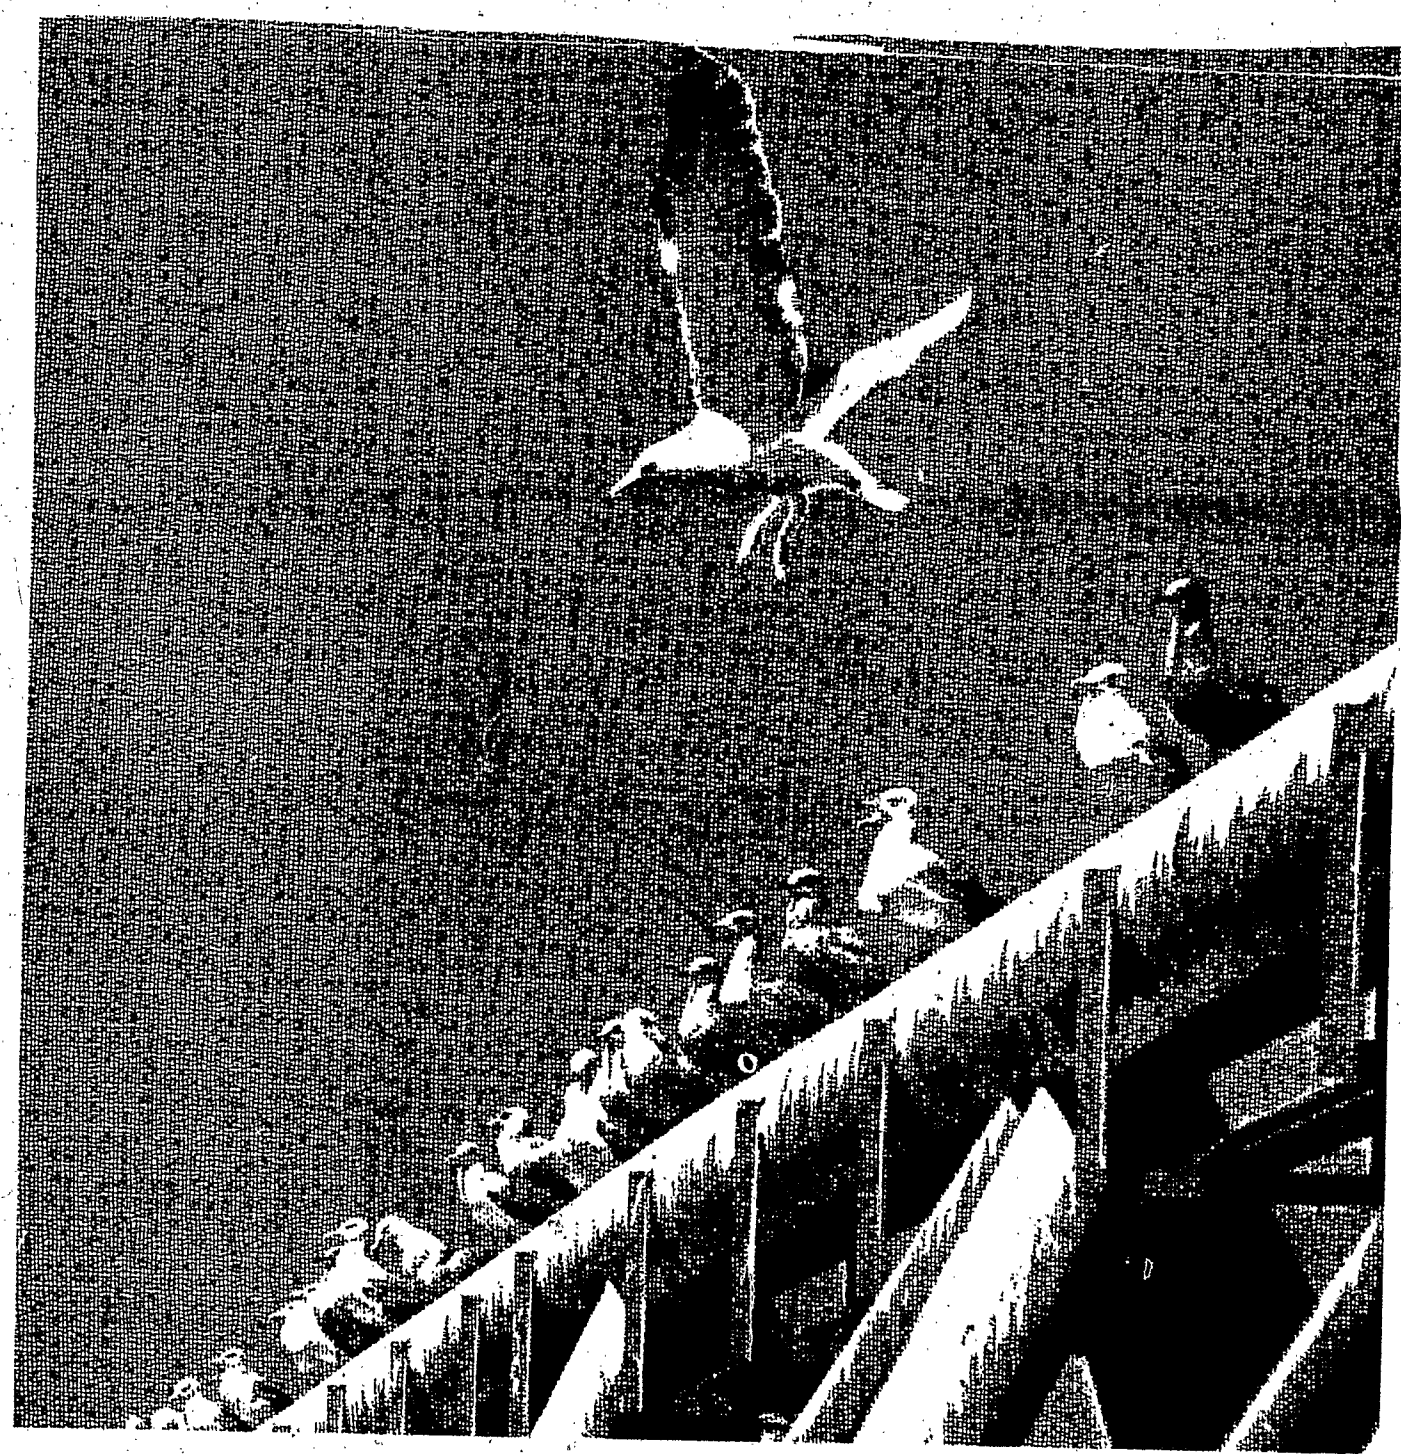

No play could go on without its technical crew; they work long and hard back-stage and behind the scenes. Ken Matthew has decorated the set, which was constructed by Dick Fitch, Terry Simpson, Daryl Choina, and Tim Whitworth.

Frank Gray is in charge of Lighting, with Danny Williams manning the Spot. Jean Keen is the accompanist; Piccola Dietrich the choreographer; Dick Fitch is in charge of sound; Nan Bradley is doing make-up; concessions are in the hands of Sid Dousan and Joe Overal; Costumes have been designed by Piccola Dietrich.

Miles offshore a giant compressor station becomes an ecological refuge

It's an unusual sanctuary, a towering compressor station nearly 50 miles out in the Gulf of Mexico. Marine birds fly here by the hundreds, unafraid, because in this instance man has proved that complex machinery and the creatures of a marine environment can exist side by side—if someone cares enough.

This distant installation pumped more than 280 billion cubic feet of gas ashore in 1979. Much of this was consumed by the Gulf South economic base. That's important. But we think it's just as significant to prove that as the search for new gas reserves grows more intense, native ecology can be preserved and perhaps enhanced.

That's the way we do things at United Gas—where the search for new energy never stops.
